Summary of Distribution and Uses of NSP Funds:

In Volusia County, the areas of greatest need for the Neighborhood Stabilization Program 3 (NSP3) were developed pursuant to the criteria established in the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 (HERA) and the NSP3 Notice that was authorized in the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Frank-Dodd Act). The purpose of the NSP3 is to stabilize neighborhoods whose viability has been, and continues to be, damaged by the economic effects of properties that have been foreclosed upon and abandoned. As required by the Frank-Dodd Act for the NSP3 application, Community Assistance used HUD's Foreclosure Need website to identify the areas of greatest need that will likely face a significant rise in the rate of home foreclosures. Community Assistance evaluated the census tracts that are the current NSP1 target areas as the first step in determining the areas of greatest need for NSP3 funding as it had already been determined that these census tracts were heavily impacted by foreclosures. The neighborhoods identified by Community Assistance as being the areas of greatest need had an individual or average combined index score not less than 17. This is the minimum threshold score established by HUD for the State of Florida. Using the data provided by HUD through its website mapping tool, Community Assistance analyzed the foreclosure starts in the past year for each of the threshold census tracts. Volusia County has historically and culturally been divided between the Eastside and Westside communities, due in part to the large portion of the center of the county that remains undeveloped and/or agricultural land. With this in mind, Community Assistance determined that the NSP3 areas of greatest need must include highly impacted neighborhoods on both sides of the county. Pursuant to the Frank-Dodd Act, the NSP3 funds are intended to be used in the areas of greatest need that are drawn in a targeted manner such that the funds can have a positive impact on the selected neighborhoods. . Using the HUD foreclosure mapping tool, Volusia County revised and narrowed the potential NSP 3 target areas, focusing on smaller neighborhood regions within these census tracts. The Volusia County NSP3 allocation focuses on five (5) neighborhoods, defined pursuant to the NSP3 criteria, to create a significant impact for the hardest hit communities. Initial target areas are the neighborhoods described in Table A below which are composed of census tract block groups DeLand, Orange City, Edgewater, and Holly Hill described generally below. DeLand - Daytona Park Estates: Portion of census tract 903.01 in unincorporated DeLand known as Daytona Park Estates (Generally bounded by US 92, Kepler Road, Larkspur Road, and East Parkway) Orange City - Orange City Terraces: Portion of census tract 908.01 in unincorporated Orange City known as the Orange City Terraces neighborhood (Generally bounded by Fern Street, Cypress Avenue, Adeline Street and Lawton Avenue) Orange City - West Highlands: Portion of census tract in 908.01 in unincorporated Orange City known as the West Highlands neighborhood (Generally bounded by 20th Street, Werley Trail, 1st Street and Hamilton Avenue) Edgewater - Florida Shores South: Portion of census tract 824.01 in the city of Edgewater known as a portioenerally bounded by SR 442 - Indian River Blvd., Willow Oak Drive., 22nd Street, Silver Palm Drive, 26th Street and Guava Drive) Holly Hill - Nova East: Portion of census tract 809.00 in the city of Holly Hill called Nova East (Generally bounded by LPGA Blvd., N. Nova Road, 3rd Street and Center Street) The NSP3 funds will be used for the following activities:Program planning and administration: $367,051.00Acquisition & rehabilitation of foreclosed properties for resale: $2,3

How Fund Use Addresses Market Conditions:

Volusia County Community Assistance Division staff conducted an analysis of the local housing market conditions to comply with the requirements of NSP3 regulations. The following data was reviewed for Volusia County as a whole, and to the extent available, for the proposed NSP3 census tract target areas, in conducting this analysis:• Trulia.com website (Internet based real estate market analysis website)• U.S. Census, American Community Survey for 2007-2009• Volusia County Consolidated Plan for FY 2010-2014: Housing Needs Assessment and Housing Market Analysis sections• Volusia County Economic Development Division• University of Florida Shimberg Center for Affordable Housing• West Volusia and Daytona Area Association of Realtors• National Association of RealtorsAdditionally, Community Assistance staff consulted with local housing partners, including community housing development organizations and affordable rental housing providers, regarding housing market conditions in the county, with particular focus on rental housing needs. The analysis of the local housing market conditions revealed the key conditions and trends related to housing tenure, homes sales, rental market, housing affordability and employment for Volusia County. This analysis is summarized below.

Housing tenure:

- Volusia County's housing tenure is heavily weighted in favor of homeownership. As of 2009, the U.S. Census estimated 73.8% of occupied housing units in the county were homeowner occupied.
- The percentage of owner occupied homes in the county as a whole has decreased slightly from 2007 when the U.S. Census estimated that 76.0% of occupied housing units in the county were homeowner occupied.
- Homeownership rates for the NPS3 proposed census tracts is summarized below, and shows that generally these census tracts have any even higher rate of homeownership than the county as a whole:

Census tract	2005-2009 Percentage of homeownership	Deland - 903.01	81.5%	Orange City - 908.01	79.5%	Edgewater - 830.04	84.9%	Holly Hill - 809.00	56.5%
U.S. Census, American Community Survey 2005-2009

Homes sales:

- Local home sales data accumulated and reported on the Trulia.com website provided both positive and negative indicators of the strength of the local market for sale of single family residences in thposed NSP 3 target cities, as summarized below:

Ar;	Numberof homes for sale	Number of homes recently sold	Median sales price	Year over year change	Deland - 32720

Ensuring Continued Affordability:

The affordability period will be fifteen (15) years for properties acquired through this program for rental or homeowner purposes.

Community Assistance will ensure long term affordability for rental properties through the use of a declaration of covenants and restrictions that will be recorded against the property. Community Assistance will annually monitor single and multi-family rental units that are assisted with NSP funds during the affordability period to ensure that the specified units are affordable and that the property(s) continue to meet minimum housing quality standards.

Community Assistance will ensure long term affordability for homeowner properties that the County directly acquires and rehabilitates through the use of restrictive covenants in the mortgage that is provided from the County to the homebuyer. If the homeowner who has been assisted through the program transfers title or fails to maintain the home as their primary residence before the 15 year affordability period expires, the assistance provided by Community Assistance will be subject to recapture, and a portion of the appreciated value of the property must be paid to the County. Long term affordability for homeowner properties that are owned and rehabilitated by Homebuyer Partners will be ensured through a recorded declaration of covenants and conditions with resale restrictions for 15 years.

Vicinity Hiring:

Volusia County, and its rehabilitation contractors, shall to the maximum extent possible, provide for the hiring of employees who reside in the vicinity of NSP3 projects or contract with small businesses that are owned and operated by persons residing in the vicinity of the project. Among other procedures, Volusia County and its contractors will post hiring and contracting notices on its website, at the project, in selected publications, and conduct outreach with applicable employment organizations.

On April 19, 2012, Volusia County completed a technical correction modifying the approved plan language regarding NSP3 requirements to promote target area vicinity hiring. This revision will require Volusia County and contractors to develop a plan to address vicinity hiring requirements, with suggestions for actions to be taken to fulfill these requirements.

Procedures for Preferences for Affordable Rental Dev.:

The procedures that Volusia County undertook to create preferences for the development of affordable rental housing with NSP3 funds involved the review of the local housing market analysis, with particular attention to the rates of homeownership, rental occupancy, affordability, employment, wages, market rents, and other factors for each of the proposed NSP 3 target areas and countywide. The County also considered other sources of funds for the development of rental housing in the community. A preference for the development of affordable rental housing in the Holly Hill Nova East neighborhood was established to take advantage of the higher demand for decent rental housing in this NSP3 neighborhood, and because of the proximity of this neighborhood to public transportation and employment centers.
