

Ensuring an Educational Junior Livestock Show in 2010 and Beyond

December 15th, 2009
 Tuesday
 12:00 to 1:00pm
 (EST)

Webinar
Mark your calendars!!!

Agenda
12:00pm	Introduction	Chad Carr; Assistant Professor and State Meat Specialist, University of Florida
12:10pm	Advantages of Youth Sheep Projects	Gerald Fitch; Professor and State Sheep Extension Specialist, Oklahoma State University
12:30pm	The Educational Value of Showing Market Animals by Breed	Warren Beeler; Director of Value – Added Animal Production, Kentucky Department of Agriculture
12:50pm	Questions and Answers

Why is this important?

- ✚ Junior livestock shows are the average American's window into animal agriculture. We should maximize the educational value of these events not only for the betterment of the youth, but also to ensure the correct public perception of animal agriculture.

What is the question?

- ✚ What can we do with the program to maximize the educational value of our junior livestock show?

Who should attend?

- ✚ All individuals associated with administering Florida's youth livestock shows are encouraged to participate, including fair personnel, extension personnel, vocational agriculture instructors and volunteer leaders.

The webinar will include live PowerPoint presentations followed by a question & answer session.

The session can be viewed from your computer.

~Log in requirements and registration/payment information to~ ~follow~

To address these issues, please join us

December 15th from 12:00 to 1:00pm (EST)

for our webinar.

UF UNIVERSITY of FLORIDA
IFAS Extension

