Program losses

- Stewart Marchman/Act lost $2.2 million for substance abuse services for inmates on work release provided at Reality House
- Funding was diverted from substance abuse programs to fill a void in basic health care services at state prisons
- The funding was provided through the State Department of Corrections
- At least 100 men will be affected
- The Neighborhood Center of West Volusia lost $25,940 to provide transitional housing (five beds) and supportive services for men released from the corrections system

Successes

- In July, Stewart Marchman/Act was awarded a $2 million federal grant (SAMSHA) over five years to provide suicide prevention efforts targeting veterans, the homeless, and individuals leaving the jail who are at risk of suicide
- Stewart Marchman/Act anticipates the restoration of Central Receiving System dollars (approximately $950,000) through the Department of Children and Families to enhance crisis services operation, a new effort that has embellished the relationship between SMA and Halifax Health by adding care coordinators to facilitate transfers and linkages to post-crisis services
