Appeal of Building Official decision – Volusia County Code of Ordinances Chapter 22, Section 22-37.

CLCA-20-03-001  Mr. George Miles appealed to the decision of the Building Official in response to the request of removing the existing roof at the jobsite address: 4204 Quail Nest Ln, New Smyrna Beach, FL 33311 (roof over/existing shingle. Mr. Eric Gebo, Chief Plan Examiner, presented the case. Mr. George Miles was also present.

Florida Building Code: 706.3 Recovering versus replacement
Per Mr. Miles, the owner should be allowed to overlay her existing roof and be compliant with existing codes and regulations since she is not removing the original shingles. Per Staff the owner will need to remove the roof based on Florida Building Code 706.3.5 which reads: new roof coverings shall not be installed without first removing all existing layers of roof coverings down to the roof deck where any of the following condition occur: - Where the existing roof is to be used for attachment for a new roof system and compliance with the securement provisions of Section 1504.1 of the Florida Building Code, Building cannot be met.” The single family residence at 4204 Quail Nest Ln, New Smyrna Beach was built in 1994, prior to the Florida Building Code. There is no evidence of any previous re-roof permits that included a sheathing inspection: the compliance with the Florida Building Code – Existing Building could not be determined – exception 5 applies.

Mr. Cajacob made the motion to uphold the decision of the Building Official to deny the appeal. Mr. Wojtuniak seconded it. The motion carried.
